

Service: MOLOKAI INTEGRATED SERVICES SYSTEM

Section 2

Service Specifications

I. Introduction

A. Background

The Department of Human Services, Social Services Division, Child Welfare Services Branch (Department) provides social and case management services to children and their biological, extended, foster, or adoptive families to ensure safe, nurturing, and permanent families for Hawaii's children.

The Department was awarded its first "Promoting Safe and Stable Families" Title IV-B subpart 2 grant in September 1994. The purpose of the Title IV-B/2 grant, a federal capped entitlement under the Social Security Act, is

1. To prevent child maltreatment among families at risk through the provision of supportive family services
2. To assure children's safety within the home and preserve intact families in which children have been maltreated when the family's problems can be addressed effectively
3. To address the problems of families whose children have been placed in foster care so that reunification may occur in a safe and stable manner in accordance with the Adoption and Safe Families Act of 1997
4. To support adoptive families by providing support services as necessary so that they can make a lifetime commitment to their children

B. Purpose or Need

1. Purpose

To address the range of family system problems that place children at risk of child abuse and neglect or result in child maltreatment, the Department is seeking proposals for an integrated service program that provides the following service components:

- a. Comprehensive Counseling and Support for clients of the Department's Child Welfare Services Branch (CWS).
- b. Diversion services for families with children that come to the attention of and are referred by CWS.
- c. Title IV-B subpart 2 services for families with children that are at risk of child abuse and/or neglect, families that have adopted or assumed permanent custody or legal guardianship of children, and victims of child maltreatment. Families may be self-referred, referred by CWS or referred by another professional agency.

Increased efforts are being made to utilize Departmental and community resources in more effective and efficient ways. The Department's resources, in response to federal and state child welfare legislative changes, have been increasingly stretched to provide more services without increasing the necessary staffing and supporting resources. Currently the components described above are provided by a number of contracted POS providers and Departmental personnel. Provision of an integrated service array will make better use of Department resources by reducing the administrative overhead associated with multiple contracts and will provide the following benefits to children who have been or are at risk of abuse or neglect and their families:

- a. A single entry point for all services.
- b. Seamless transition through the components of service.
- c. Referrals to any of the components of the service.
- d. Access to services staffed on-island.

The Federal Adoption and Safe Families Act of 1997 requires that timely and informed decisions must be made regarding the placement of children. The Act also mandates timely permanent placement for children in foster care by shortening deadlines for permanency hearings. Comprehensive Counseling and Support Services are being purchased in keeping with 45 C.F.R 1356.60(c)(2) for the purpose of:

- a. Preparation for and participation in judicial proceedings;
- b. Providing information for development of the case plan.

The following Title IV-B subpart 2 services are being purchased to achieve safe, nurturing, permanent families for children:

- a. Family Support: Community-based services to promote the safety and well-being of children and families, designed to increase the strength and stability of families (including adoptive, foster, and extended families), increase parents' confidence and competence in their parenting abilities, afford children a safe, stable and supportive family environment, enhance child development, strengthen parental relationships, and promote healthy marriages.
- b. Family Preservation: Services for children and families designed to help families at-risk or in crisis (including adoptive, legal guardians, and extended families); pre-placement preventive services programs, such as intensive family preservation programs, designed to help children at risk of foster care placement remain safely with their families; service programs designed to provide follow-up care to families to whom a child has been returned after a foster care placement; and services designed to improve parenting skills with respect to matters such as child development, family budgeting, coping with stress, health, and nutrition.

- c. Adoption Promotion and Support: Services and activities designed to encourage more adoptions out of the foster care system when these arrangements promote the best interests of children. Activities may include pre- and post-permanency services and activities designed to expedite the adoption process and support adoptive families.

2. Planning Activities (check all that apply):

- X Information from funders (legislature, federal agencies, private foundations, etc.) on funding terms and conditions;
- Information from other state agencies on services to the same target group;
- X Views of service recipients and community advocacy groups on conditions affecting achievement of desired goals;
- X Views of provider organizations on how to improve service specifications; a request for information (RFI) process may have been used for this purpose;
- X Information from POS monitoring and other reports for current contracts; and
- X Other data (socio-economic and health trends, waiting lists for services, client satisfaction surveys, etc.).

C. Description of the goals of the service

The goals are comprised of three broad outcome domains in the continuum of child welfare services: safety, permanency, and child and family well-being. In administering and conducting the service activities, the safety of children to be served shall be of paramount concern. Service activities shall be based on the principles of family-centered, strengths/needs-based practice.

The guiding principles of family-centered based practice in the Child Welfare Services Branch are:

1. The safety of children is the paramount concern that must guide all child welfare services. Child safety must be the paramount concern when making service provision, placement, and permanency planning decisions.

2. Reasonable efforts to maintain and reunify families are important except when it is determined that the child's safety in the family cannot be assured. Thus, risk and safety assessment skills are important in maintaining the quality of child welfare services and decision making.
3. Children should be helped to stay with or return to their families, when safety can be assured, through the provision of timely, appropriate, quality, individualized service activities and supports that build on the strengths of children and families and are responsive to their needs.
4. If children cannot remain safely in their homes, foster care and other temporary placements should be considered as an extension of family life rather than as an alternative to it. The child's need for attachment should be addressed through strengthening the family as a resource for the child.
5. Family crises provide opportunities to the families to address problems. When timely, high quality, and appropriate services are provided to families in crisis, family members, Child Welfare Services Branch staff, and Family Courts are able to make informed decisions about biological, foster, or adoptive parents' ability to protect and care for their children.
6. Service activities must be comprehensive, coordinated, and collaborative and provided in all designated geographic areas under the contract.
7. Service activities must be competent, culturally appropriate and responsive to the strengths, needs, values and preferences of the child and family, and delivered in a manner that is respectful of and builds on the strengths of the family, the community, and cultural ties. Service activities must address the physical, social, emotional, and educational needs of the child and the family's ability to protect the child. Service activities must provide clear and attainable goals and objectives for each participant.
8. Service activities must be individualized, addressing the unique capacities and needs of each child and family.
9. Service activities must empower families to help themselves and to gain and maintain mastery and control over their ability to protect their children.

D. Description of the target population to be served

1. Families with children at risk of child abuse and/or neglect that are self-referred, referred by the Department, or other professional agencies.
2. Children who are reported to the Department as harmed or threatened with harm by a family member.
3. Resource caregivers providing out-of-home care to children who have been harmed or threatened with harm who are under the jurisdiction of the Department when services are needed to maintain or preserve an out-of-home placement.

4. Families who have adopted or assumed legal guardianship or permanent custody of children who have been under the jurisdiction of the Department.
